FOREWORD

We are the war generation. Three months after we entered college the "day of infamy" dawned. It has been our fortune to watch our ranks dwindle and to smile as we said goodbye to our boys as they joined the columns of marching men and the fleets of sailing ships. Our roster carries names written in gold; and not one man is graduating.

In spite of war, however, we have carried on. We have kept Western Carolina's flame burning. And now in the name of those who have fought and died that we might live we offer you this issue of the CATAMOUNT, the record of a college at war.

DEDICATION

Because of her singlehearted devotion to the cause of public education, her sterling worth as an individual, her great mother heart whose love follows Western Carolina's sons and daughters to remote corners of the globe and through long vistas of time, the senior class of 1945 gratefully dedicates this issue of the CATAMOUNT to Cordelia Camp.

WE HONOR

Mr. Robert Lee Madison founded Western Carolina Teachers College in August, 1889, and served as its president until 1912, and from 1920 to 1923.

Our present president, Dr. H. Tyram Hunter, has been head of the college since 1923.

OUR PRESIDENTS

Our three presidents, Mr. R. L. Madison, Mr. A. C. Reynolds, and Dr. H. T. Hunter, seem to be interested in something. They always are. It is through their constant interest, love, and hard work that Western Carolina Teachers College has come to be what it is and what it is to be.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Elizabeth Ann Hunter . . . . . President

Martha Perkins . . . . . Vice-President

Rachel McAlister . . . . . Secretary-Treasurer

Well, here we are practically ready to graduate. A lot has happened in the past four years, and most of it was fun (from a retrospective point of view).

Our officers for 1941-42 were Owen Lindley (remember "Zoom?"), President; Evelyn Wiggins, Vice-President; and Elizabeth Ann Hunter, Secretary-Treasurer. That year our main activity, besides just running around being freshmen, was sponsoring a square dance.

Our sophomore year we gave another square dance (really, we didn't dance all the time). Our officers were Claire ("Ike") Olson, President; Oliven Cowan, Vice-President; and Evelyn Wiggins, Secretary-Treasurer.

By the time we became juniors we were definite upper-classmen, and don't think we weren't aware of it! We were led safely, if not uneventfully, through all the pitfalls of money-raising by Rachel McAlister, President; Essie Mae Hall, Vice-President; and Zelda Gentry (she became a Merrell at Christmas), Secretary-Treasurer. I am sure you remember the Faculty-Student softball game in which the faculty men played the Junior girls; no one is quite sure just who won. And, of course, we gave the Junior-Senior picnic.

This year, when we are supposed to be the "big bugs" of the campus, we feel awfully small. Practice Teaching may have done it to us or maybe we are only beginning to realize how little we know. We are going to graduate in May, and we hate to leave!

We are upper-class men! We gave a square dance and raised money in various ways. The big event of our year was the Junior-Senior picnic. We are now looking forward to next year which will be ours, even if Practice Teaching does loom ominously on the horizon.

According to the Juniors and Seniors, the most that can be said for us is that we aren't Freshmen! We may not be learned or sophisticated, but you couldn't do without us. Just remember, we are almost Juniors!

What a year! We have developed from the greenest of rats into full-fledged college students. We gave a square dance and have furnished practically all of the boys this year. We may still be freshmen, but it won't be long now!

And haven't we improved since Rat Court?
